Payment Methods

All services to be paid upon receipt via cash, check or major credit card. A credit card is required on file. A 3% surcharge is placed on all credit card transactions. However, we also offer a prepayment discount: For every $1000 payment by cash or check we offer a 5% bonus on account.

Total Cost

The cost of your Private Pilot's license depends on the time required to complete the program, as well as a variety of factors including the frequency of lessons, physical coordination, language comprehension, weather variability and instructor availability. The national average for earning a Private Pilot's license is almost 90 hours. The Princeton Flying School has averaged 65-80 flight hours in the past. If you are able to take Lessons 2-3 times a week, and take less than 80 hours, your license cost could be less than $23,000.
